Terms of Agreement for Bitcoin For The Arts Grants

By applying for or accepting a grant from Bitcoin For The Arts ("we," "us," or "our"), you ("the Applicant" or "you") agree to these Terms of Agreement ("Terms"). These Terms govern your participation in our grant program. Please read them carefully. If you do not agree, do not apply.

1. Program Overview

Bitcoin For The Arts provides Bitcoin Micro-Grants to support artists in creating and sharing their work. Grants range from $500 to $5,000 USD equivalent in Bitcoin (BTC), paid directly to your provided wallet address. We fund projects in visual arts, performing arts, music, literature, film/media, crafts, and multidisciplinary arts. Our goal is to empower creators with sound money that appreciates over time, fostering financial sovereignty.

2. Eligibility

- You must be a legal resident of the United States.
- You must be an individual artist or small artist collective (no large organizations yet!).
- Your project must align with artistic creation and not violate any laws.
- We do not fund commercial ventures, political activities, or non-artistic projects.

3. Application Process

- Submit via our online form (preferred) or download and print the PDF form from our site, complete it, and send to grants@bitcoinforthearts.org. Include all required details along with Bitcoin address, links to work, project description, and budget.
- Applications are reviewed quarterly by our team. Decisions are final.
- Incomplete or ineligible applications will not be considered.
- By submitting, you confirm all information is accurate and grant us permission to verify it.

4. Grant Award and Disbursement

- If selected, grants are paid in BTC at the current market rate.
- You are responsible for any taxes or legal obligations related to receiving BTC.
- For micro-grants ($500–$5,000), no reporting is required. However, for any future larger grants (if introduced), basic reporting on project outcomes may be needed—we'll notify in advance.

5. Intellectual Property

- You retain full ownership of your work.
- We may feature your project on our site or social media for promotional purposes (with credit). By applying, you grant us a non-exclusive license for this.

6. Limitations of Liability

- Grants are provided “as is.” We make no warranties regarding BTC value fluctuations.
- We are not liable for any losses, damages, or issues arising from grant use, including wallet errors or legal changes.
- You agree to indemnify us against claims related to your project or misuse of funds.

7. Termination and Changes

- We reserve the right to terminate the program or modify Terms at any time. Changes will be posted here.
- Continued application after changes constitutes acceptance.

8. Governing Law

These Terms are governed by US laws, without regard to conflict principles. Disputes shall be resolved in [Your State/City] courts.

If you have questions, contact us at grants@bitcoinforhearts.org. By applying, you affirm you've read and agree to these Terms. Thank you for creating—let's build a creative future with Bitcoin!
