BITCOINDAY NAPLES · JANUARY 2027

BITCOIN NEEDS ART TO SURVIVE

The old money is failing artists. A main-stage talk and panel on what holders can do about it, an artist's own story told with a live Lightning payment, and a featured original work. Presented by Bitcoin For The Arts, a 501(c)(3), to some of the most committed bitcoin holders in the country.

DATES
January 15 to 16, 2027
Saturday program

PLACE
BitcoinDay
Naples, Florida

THE ROOM
About 200 investors, builders, and capital allocators

THE ASK
$5,000 gift to Bitcoin For The Arts

THE CASE

THE FIAT FUNDING MODEL IS BREAKING ARTISTS

Art has always depended on patrons. Today the patrons, the box office, and the public money are all losing ground to the same force: money that buys less every year. Costs rise faster than ticket prices, donations, or grants can follow, and artists are the first to be cut.

$4.4M

Operating deficit at the Met in fiscal 2025, even after raising $294.9 million

94%

Of seats sold, and a $1 million week on Broadway only breaks even

0 of 18

Commercial musicals from the 2024 to 2025 season in profit by that fall

$27M+

In federal arts grants cancelled in May 2025, about 560 awards

Even the giants are struggling

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, the largest art museum in the United States, ran an operating deficit for the second year in a row as staff and program costs rose. On Broadway, Cats: The Jellicle Ball won three Tony Awards, grossed about $1 million a week, and still closed after five months. Andrew Lloyd Webber said Broadway is in "dire danger." The cost of mounting a musical has roughly doubled in a decade.

The working artist feels it first

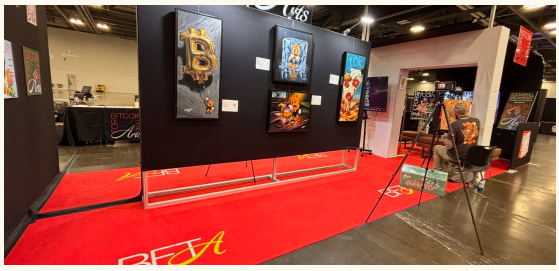

If institutions with billions in assets can't keep up, independent artists have no chance on fiat terms. A fee agreed in January buys less by December. Savings built in a good season lose value in a quiet one. Payments arrive late, and middlemen take a cut each time money changes hands.

WHAT THIS ROOM CAN CHANGE

Bitcoin holders already understand sound money. Artists need it most and have been shown it least. Bitcoin For The Arts pays artists in bitcoin, money that can't be printed, sent over Lightning in seconds with no middleman. A gift from this room goes straight into that bridge: grants to working artists, education in sound money, and live programs that bring culture to bitcoin and bitcoin to culture.

We have done this before

In September 2026 Bitcoin For The Arts opened Bitcoin Arts Park at the Midwest Bitcoin Summit in Columbus: live music, theatre, painting, film, and a silent auction for artists. Every artist on the bill was paid.

Sources: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Annual Report for the Year 2024 to 2025. The New York Times, "The Broadway Musical Is in Trouble," September 22, 2025. The Guardian, July 14, 2026. ABC7 New York, "Is Broadway broken?" 2026. PBS NewsHour, on National Endowment for the Arts grant terminations, May 2025.

THE PROGRAM

WHAT THE ROOM WILL SEE, HEAR, AND PAY

Run of show

SATURDAY
MAIN STAGE

Panel: Bitcoin Needs Art to Survive
Dion Wilson lays out the funding crisis facing artists and institutions in the fiat world, and why high-net-worth bitcoin holders are the patrons who can change it: by funding bitcoin culture, bringing art to bitcoin events, and taking bitcoin art to the next level. Ainsley Costello brings the working artist's view.
Dion Wilson · Ainsley Costello

SATURDAY
10 MINUTES

Ainsley Costello: art, story, and bitcoin
A TED-style talk. Ainsley shares her journey as a Gen Z independent artist, how she found bitcoin, and what it changed, ending with a live Lightning payment to an artist from the stage.
Ainsley Costello

SATURDAY
ALL DAY

A featured work
One original work selected by Bitcoin For The Arts, from an artist whose reach goes beyond bitcoin art. The artist is paid for showing it, and the work is sold through an online auction with CLCT, our auction partner.
Curated by Bitcoin For The Arts · Online auction with CLCT

SATURDAY
ALL DAY

Bitcoin For The Arts table
Our mission, artist grants, sound money education, how to give in bitcoin, and Sovereign Circle sign-ups.
Dion Wilson

The program closes with three asks: collect or commission from working artists, pay artists directly in sats, and give to Bitcoin For The Arts.

Who is in the room

BitcoinDay is an intimate, high-signal gathering of bitcoin holders with the means and the interest to commission, collect, and give.

~200	57 to 198	9.45	4,000+
Investors, builders, and capital allocators	Attendance growth, 2023 to 2026	Attendee Net Promoter Score	Social followers, plus a livestream

BUDGET · $5,000

WHERE EVERY DOLLAR GOES

The gift is made to Bitcoin For The Arts, Inc. and follows the same published rule as every dollar we raise: 55 percent to artist grants, 30 percent to programs, 10 percent to operations, and 5 percent to the HODL Vault, our long-term bitcoin reserve.

LINE	WHAT IT PAYS FOR	AMOUNT
ARTIST GRANTS · 55%		$2,750
Featured artist grant	Pays the featured artist for showing their work and covers shipping it to Naples and back.	$500
Artist Grants Pool	Funds 2027 Bitcoin For The Arts grants to working artists, paid in bitcoin.	$2,250
PROGRAMS · 30%		$1,500
Photography	Photos of the talk, the panel, and the table, cleared for the sponsor's use.	$500
Table and display	Table, easel, a label with a QR code to the online auction, and signage.	$400
Event insurance	Liability coverage and coverage for the art on site.	$300
Presentation and Lightning demo	Slides for the panel and talk, plus the payment terminal and QR signage for the live demo and giving station.	$150
Printed program	Sponsor credit in the printed program.	$150
OPERATIONS · 10%		$500
Program coordination	Artist agreement, scheduling with BitcoinDay, donor receipts, and a written report to the sponsor afterward.	$500
HODL VAULT · 5%		$250
Long-term reserve	Held in bitcoin to sustain the mission.	$250
Total	Payable to Bitcoin For The Arts, Inc.	$5,000

THE PROGRAM

All on Saturday

Ainsley Costello's TED-style talk, the Bitcoin Needs Art to Survive panel, a featured original work, and the Bitcoin For The Arts table, in front of about 200 bitcoin holders.

ART SALES

Two-thirds to the artist

The works are auctioned online through CLCT, our auction partner. When a work sells, two-thirds goes to the artist and one-third to CLCT, which donates a portion of its share to Bitcoin For The Arts.

Sales are in addition to this $5,000. Not in this budget: Dion Wilson's travel and lodging, which he covers himself, and the room, sound, and stage, provided by BitcoinDay.

PRESENTING SPONSOR

WHAT THE SPONSOR RECEIVES

01 · CREDIT

Presenting sponsor of the program

Name and logo on the panel, the talk, and the table, on signs, screens, and the printed program.

02 · STAGE

A thank-you from the stage

Named from the main stage during the panel and at the giving moment.

03 · MEMBERSHIP

Renaissance Guardian Circle

One year at the top level of our Sovereign Circle, including the right to name a 2027 Bitcoin For The Arts grant cycle.

04 · CONTENT

Photos from the day

Cleared for the sponsor's reuse with credit. Recognition on our donor page, in the newsletter, and in pre-event promotion.

The gift is a charitable contribution to a 501(c)(3). The receipt will state the value of any benefits received. Recognition and Sovereign Circle membership have no listed market value. Sponsors should confirm tax treatment with their own advisor.

The team

PRESENTER

Dion Wilson
Founder and executive director, Bitcoin For The Arts. Former Broadway dancer and Actors' Equity member, in bitcoin since 2015. Leads the panel, selects the featured work, and hosts the table.

ARTIST

Ainsley Costello
Independent pop artist from Nashville and co-founder of the Epoch Music App, a Lightning tool for independent artists. Spoke at BitcoinDay 2026, and opened Bitcoin Arts Park at the Midwest Bitcoin Summit in September 2026.

Giving at BitcoinDay

- Give bitcoin, not cash. For bitcoin held more than a year, a donor can generally deduct fair market value and avoid capital gains tax on the gain. Gifts over $5,000 need a qualified appraisal. Give by December 31 for 2026, or at BitcoinDay for 2027.

Next steps

01 Confirm the sponsor.

02 Confirm times, sound, and stage with BitcoinDay.

03 Select the featured artist, sign the agreement, and list the work with CLCT.

BITCOIN FOR THE ARTS

Dion Wilson
Founder and Executive Director
dionwilson@bitcoinforthearts.org

BITCOINDAY

John Drew
Producer, BitcoinDay Naples
john@bitcoinday.io

Bitcoin For The Arts, Inc. · New York 501(c)(3) · EIN 41-2642260 · bitcoinforthearts.org